- The main reason for the success of the 2017 campaign was an increased daily run rate (+10k) a day as well as extending the sale period from 26 to 31 days. We managed to activate around 49k customers, which across the period was approximately 6.8% of the active user pool (user pools avg. across month approx. 720k).
- Despite this, the average revenue per user was down on 2016 (£20.74 vs. £23.95). This was driven by existing users buying less units per order, this is a pattern we have seen continue during 2018 $10 campaigns. Existing user average revenue per user was down from £27.76 to £24.94.

- New users last year did have a higher average revenue per user (£14.39 vs. £13.29). We should prioritise trying to get new users to order again or order more units, in order to maximise the revenue during the period.
- We can also see that releases up until the campaign will be key in driving revenue. With products released in Oct/Nov & Dec making up 31% of spend in 2017/2018 and 22% in 2016/2017,

- Daily run rates for 2016 & 2017 are displayed on the left.
- Both years had a similar start with 100k spend during the first two days of the sale.
- Across the majority of days we had a higher revenue per user in 2016, again this is a combination of existing users spending more and less new users each day who historically spend less.
- For the equivalent days the 2017 campaign saw a 32% increase in sales (26 days of campaign).
- Very strong finish to 2017/2018 campaign with 71k on final day.

* Metrics calculated based on the spend splits between new & existing and the average revenue per user

- Based on last years performance we will need to see approximately 24.5k more customers purchase during the sale period, (14.5k more existing and 10k more new users).
- Based on the 2016/2017 performance we would need 14.7k more customers purchase during the sale period, (13.4k existing users and 5.7k more new users).
- This year's $10 sales indicate that it is much more likely that existing user order value and revenue per user will be closely aligned to last year's performance.
- Run rate will need to increase from 32.5k to 46k, a 41% increase. There were only 5 days during the 2017/2018 campaign that the daily run rate was above this figure (start & close periods).
- Currently we have an active user pool of 750k, based on this figure staying at a fairly consistent level across the period we would need to activate 9.8% of the user pool. An approximate estimate of activation last year is 6.8%.
- The GA stats are displayed in the upper right corner. We will need to increase both the number of sessions to the site and the conversion rate to achieve the target.

2017/18 $5 Campaign The New Levers -PR Creating High Quality Leads

Target Audience

Technical professionals

engage your core and unactivated markets. This campaign is built to activate the 'everyday expert' and drive them to the website, creating high quality leads for the $5 campaign.

The Big Idea

Packt is producing its most inspiring book to date – a book that inspires. We want the everyday tech experts (developers / architects) to impart their knowledge to future generations with tips and insights. We will gather data through surveying, social media and PR and collate into a book of ideas.

Activating the idea

National influencer engagement:

Deliverables

- Writing of releases about campaign and the sale
- Translations
- Calling and selling into the media in the 3 key regions
- Managing stakeholders
- Project management
- Working with social team to deliver campaign across all platforms
- Writing of copy for book
- 8 weeks support

Measuring ROI

- Trackable UTM links into all media
- CTA to increase data capture retargeting with email for $5 campaign
- Coverage in all key media
- Measuring value via EAV metrics, or other metrics to be agreed
